

UT Southwestern Medical Center

U.S. News & World Report Best Children's Hospitals Rankings

June 17, 2021

To the UT Southwestern community,

We congratulate our UT Southwestern Pediatric Group faculty for their nationally recognized care of patients at Children's Medical Center Dallas, which has once again been ranked among the nation's best pediatric hospitals by U.S. News & World Report for 2021-2022, based on patient outcomes.

Children's is the only pediatric hospital in North Texas to rank in all 10 specialties, a recognition that underscores the excellent patient-centric care delivered by our pediatric faculty and trainees, working with Children's staff, to children and their families in North Texas and beyond.

These talented UT Southwestern pediatricians embody our institution's values in the care they provide to their patients each day. Through their work to promote health and a healthy society, our youngest patients can achieve their full potential.

We also want to express our deep appreciation for the hard work and dedication of our colleagues at Children's Health and Scottish Rite for Children, who share our commitment to excellence, innovation, compassion, and teamwork.

These kinds of valuable outcomes for patients evolve from successful partnerships, such as the long-standing relationships between UT Southwestern, Children's Health, and Scottish Rite. Together, we celebrate this notable achievement and commend our front line caregivers for an honor well-earned.

Sincerely,

Daniel K. Podolsky, M.D.
President,
UT Southwestern
Medical Center

John Warner, M.D.
Executive Vice President
for Health System Affairs

W. P. Andrew Lee, M.D.
Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs, Provost,
Dean, UT Southwestern
Medical School